SUNSET.

Sweet star of summer's evening,
O'er yonder sea of light,
Where many a ruddier crimson dyed
Is cradled on the night,
And back from many a purple isle
The darkness rolls for awhile,
As sunset o'er that billowy sea
Unveils her heart of hearts to thee.

I watched thy coming, long ago,
When but a pensive child,
Where yonder's dark blue mountains glow
By Huron wide and wild,
And softly, lovingly as now,
The night dew kissed my throbbing brow;
I felt with him and breeze and flower
The witchery of the sunset hour.

Oh, far off home of boyhood's dreams!
Dear land remembered long!
The music of thy mountain streams,
The valleys filled with song,
Through blighted hope, through pain and tears,
Through wandering and through burdened years,
Denied, unmet and tempest-driven,
Yet tell of rest and home in heaven.

To-night—such a night as this—
His touch on yonder shades,
Where clouds are heaved in Eden's hills,
And stars in splendor rise;
I bless him, in the bonds He's died;
The wealth of hope, of joy that's left;
The shield and shelter ever such;
The peace that cometh by and by.

I turn from thee, Thy works, to Thee,
A refuge of our race;
How earnestly we strive to see,
What is Thy dwelling place;
The glowing sunset's crimson light;
The splendor of the sunset night;
The rainbow, arched from zone to zone,
Are shadows only of Thy throne.

Thou sleepest with a tender heart
To every little thing;
A refuge and a rock Thou art,
A father and a king;
Did not life's darkness dim our sight;
It's sorrowful little Thou own sweet light,
How much of goodness could we see?
How much of love that tells of Thee?

AN ACT.

To Amend and Re-form the Common School Laws of this Commonwealth.

Teachers.

ARTICLE IX.

§ 1. No person shall be deemed qualified to teach any common school herein provided for unless such person shall first have obtained a certificate of qualification to teach the subjects embraced in the common school course, signed by two members of the county board of examiners, or two members of the State board of examiners, specifying the class of qualifications of the applicants. Certificates shall be first-class, second-class and third-class. No certificate, except first-class, shall be issued to the same person more than twice. Certificates of the second class shall expire in two years from their date; and certificates of the third class shall expire in one year from their date. A first class certificate shall be valid for four years from its date, and may be continued four years longer by the county superintendent indorsing thereon "renewed," and subscribing his name, for which no fee shall be charged. But no certificate shall be granted out of the county in which it is valid. The State Board of Education shall define the qualification necessary in order to procure a certificate of each class.

§ 2. The county superintendent shall appoint two competent and well educated persons, who, together with himself, shall constitute a board of examiners for the county, who shall examine all the teachers applying to teach the common schools of the county. The said board of examiners shall hold their sessions on the third and fourth Saturdays in July and August, and in December and January of each school year, at the county seat, and at such other times and places as they may appoint, giving public notice thereof, for the examination of teachers for the common schools. The county superintendent and at least one member of the board shall be present and conduct all such examinations, and shall sign all certificates of qualification given, and affix the Superintendent's official seal thereto.

§ 3. The board shall charge each applicant a fee of three dollars, the proceeds of which shall be divided between the two members of the board appointed by and acting with the Superintendent, in proportion to the services rendered by them. They shall give no certificate to any teacher unless they are satisfied that such teacher is possessed of a good moral character, knowledge of the branches of study required in the common school course, together with physiology and hygiene, and a fair ability to teach and govern a school, sufficient to warrant the giving of a certificate of the first class; and this certificate shall entitle a teacher to teach in any of the common schools of the Commonwealth, for five years, without examination by the county board. And if a teacher holding a State certificate shall have taught continuously from the time his certificate was granted, that certificate may be renewed by the State board without requiring such teacher to submit to another examination.

§ 4. It shall be the duty of each teacher of a common school to keep such a register of the school as the county superintendent may require of him; and within ten days after the close of the session he shall make a report of the entire number of pupils enrolled, and highest, lowest and average number of pupils in attendance during the session; the books used, the branches taught, the number of pay pupils, if any, in attendance, and such other information as the county superintendent may deem of importance and interest; and he shall furnish a copy of such report to the county superintendent, and if he shall willfully neglect or fail to do this, the county superintendent shall withhold twenty dollars of his salary due, for the benefit of the district.

§ 5. Teachers shall faithfully enforce in school the course of study and the regulations prescribed in pursuance of law; and if any teacher shall willfully refuse or neglect to comply with such regulations, the county superintendent, on petition or complaint of the trustees, may remove or dismiss him, and withhold any part of the school fund money due for teaching the school. Every teacher shall have the power and authority to hold every pupil to a strict accountability in school for any disorderly conduct on the play ground of the school, or during intermission or recess, and to suspend from school any pupil for good cause: Provided, That such suspension shall be reported in writing as soon as practicable to the trustees by the teacher; and if such action is not sustained by them, they may appeal to the county superintendent, whose decision of the case shall be final.

§ 6. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall appoint two professional educators, who, together with himself, shall constitute a State board of examiners, who shall examine all the teachers applying for State certificates. The said board of examiners shall hold their sessions at the State Capitol on the first Wednesday of July, and such days succeeding as may be necessary to examine those who may apply for certificates, and at such other times and places as they may appoint, giving notice thereof to each county superintendent of a county, for the examination of teachers for the common schools. The Superintendent and at least one member of the board shall be present and conduct all such examinations, and shall sign all certificates of qualification given, and affix the Superintendent's official seal thereto.

§ 7. During the session of the Institute there may be held a County Teachers' Association, and an evening or night term of two hours may be set apart for this purpose. The Association may be composed of all the officers and teachers of common schools present, and shall be called together by the county superintendent; after which the organization and proceedings of the body shall be under its own control and management. The objects of such association shall be, primarily, to discuss and devise the best ways and means of promoting the interests of common schools, and the improvement of teachers, and the methods of teaching.

§ 8. The county superintendent shall, at the time of making his annual report to the Superintendent, also report the time and place of holding the Teachers' Institute; the name of the person conducting the same; the number of persons registered as in attendance; the sum collected by a fee of two dollars paid by each person in attendance; the number of teachers of common schools in the county who did not attend the Institute, and such other information of the proceedings and results of the Institute and Teachers' Association as he may deem of value and interest.

Slush vs. Slush.

SHERBURN KY., July 24, 1884.

In response to a communication in HERALD July 16th, under caption of "Slush," by W. Lamont, of Millwood, I would like to impress upon his mind a homely old fable, in my own language, but originating with the ancient sages. Aesop two thousand years ago, was as appropriate to-day as it was in his time.

Once upon a time there lived in the city of Leitchfield, Grayson county, Ky., a donkey of wonderful sagacity. He was a donkey of imitation, not of invention so when one day a traveling man came along, and this wonderful editor-donkey for the first time beheld the majestic lion, and listened to his mighty voice, his skull was filled with longings to be like unto the monarch of beasts, and rest or contentment had been none until by hook or by crook, he had procured a lion skin and planning back his ears and hiding his deformity under its graceful folds he unblushingly paraded himself before an astonished public in his new dress.

For a time his foolish airs and unbecoming gambols were tolerated by the disgusted people, but one day this wonderful editorial ass took it into his skull that like the noble beast he represented himself to be, he could shake the universe with the thunder of his voice so gathering himself up, for a mighty effort he essayed the roar of the lion, but alas! alas! the attempt was a complete failure, for with the effort his disguise dropped off, and he stood exposed before a laughing public as the veritable donkey his assinine voice so unmistakably proclaimed him.

How does the fable strike you Mr. Yager?

P. S.—My grandmother says: "Do not let the slurs of such miserable contemptible minds as the Editor of the Leitchfield Sunbeam trouble you in the least, Willie. March straight ahead in the path you have marked out for yourself and independent of all the slurs about your drunken life, you will come out with colors flying at the latter end."

My opinion of the Sunbeam, and its editor is that the sheet itself is the poorest apology for a journal of any in the State of Kentucky, and as for its editor why he has not the brain-power to edit the printing department of a paper bag manufactory—"and I heartily concur in the good lady's well expressed opinion."

Railroad Ramblings.

Editor Herald:
Will you permit a correspondent to make some suggestions. A country town like Hartford, should have railroad out. The mercantile interests of the town, the agricultural and mining interests of a large excellent section, contiguous to the county seat, aside from the social interests of the community seem to indicate a necessity for a convenient connection with the business interests of the country. We are in a dead end, while we should, and can be a healthy, prosperous, thriving busy town. I feel strongly impressed that if we will put our heads together, we can build a branch railroad from Beaver Dam to Hartford and get our people and our business into the commercial current. It is no secret that our place is in a State of stagnation and our people, that should be lively and on the jump are full of apathy and languor. We can build a branch road for a small sum; the distance is short and the expense, we think will not exceed $10,000 for the part we propose for the citizens and the town to do. Where there is a will there is a way and we suggest that a beginning be made. Two or three public-spirited men can put the matter on foot and get up an interest that will take shape directly. By proper efforts by the right men and co-operation the C. O. & S. W. R. R. Co., can be induced to aid in constructing a road between the two points named. A proposition to grade and tie the road from Beaver Dam to Hartford by the citizens would meet a favorable response from the C. O. & S. W. R. R. road and result in an agreement by them if that were done, that they would form the same and operate it and prorate stock a tercompletion upon a basis of the actual amount expended by each. We know that other roads are aiding the building of branch roads to the main line in this way. A road is now being built from Ekron in Todd county to Guthrie in this way and the grading and tie will not cost more than $2500 per mile. Now let us think and talk a little for a road for our town. Why not investigate the matter and see what the C. O. & S. W. R. R. Co., will do; are we so utterly dead that we cannot try to find out; our part will not cost more than $20,000; can we not raise the amount by private subscription and stock taken by the town. The C. O. & S. W. R. R. has the iron at any time we may need it and can easily meet us in our arrangements if we will let them. A road would certainly be of great benefit to us in many ways. Do not wait until we cannot get away from our town and then begin to talk railroad or slack water navigation. Cannot we have a meeting and do something now. Time speeds away; must we stand still and see other interests built up at our expense; will not our business men wake up to their interests before it is too late.

—SUBSCRIBER.

Slush for R. Campbell.

"You have got yourself into bad company at last Willie," remarked my grandmother, as she laid down the Hartford Herald and prepared to wipe off the moisture that had accumulated on her spectacles.

What's the matter now grandmother? I asked.

"Well," she answered "the poet laureate of Temperance, Campbell I believe is his name, not taking my lesson on slush to heart as he should have done, comes out in this issue of the Herald, with a string of doggerel rhyme, and very poor rhyme at that which he dubs 'A Dream.' That is all very well, but he marches out his satanic majesty himself, and for a companion gives him 'Cain' the unfortunate writer of 'Slush.' Now Mr. Campbell may be a poet (?) a scholar and a gentleman, but his egotistical presumption in trying to carry on his puny shoulders the whole structure of temperance, roof, pillars, props and foundation, disgusts while at the same time it amuses me. Just listen to a little of his 'Dream,' when he makes Satan say:—

Now come my friend once more be jolly,
And quit O, quit this temperance folly
For if you put temperance down
That moment I shall loose my crown.

If you do not call that egotism of the first water, then I have never seen anything that was. The idea of a rhymester of Mr. Campbell's calibre, overthrowing the gigantic vices of temperance, with the aid of his temperance sonnets, as he calls them, is ludicrous in the extreme, and would make me laugh but pity for the man contemned the effect and I feel more like shedding tears over his insanity than indulging in mirth at his expense. O shades of the venerable Father Matthews, and all thou apostles of Temperance, who freely gave thy genius, lives and fortunes to the holy cause thou advocated; look down and blush at the reckless presumption displayed by Mr. C.—in his incomparable 'Dream' and if the affairs of this transitory life are in any way connected with thy spirit lives away, I beseech thee, write on Mr. Campbell's heart in letters of living fire the grand glorious old words 'Slush'; and my grandmother to feel her head and shed tears over the follies of poor frail humanity.
